Strangulation of Young
Florida Convict.

WITNESSES STRIKE AT STOO PIGEONS

Fellow Prisoners of Dead Boy Declare He Was Victim of "Chain Gang
Rats."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 7.—(AP)—W. H. (Buddy) Gasque, Duval county detective, on whose investigation the state ultimately indicted two Sunbeam prison camp guards for first-degree murder of a young New Jersey convict, gave a vivid description of conditions at the camp from the witness stand at the trial today.

He indicated George Courson, who was captain at the camp then, and who with Solomon Higginbotham, a guard, are under indictment for the murder of Arthur Maillefer, was retained to allow him to make his investigation the night Maillefer was found dead in the camp sweat box, strangled to death with a chain about his neck and his feet in wooden stocks.

"Courson told me," Gasque said, "that he had a paper from Judge Youngblood (a justice of the peace in South Jacksonville) that said an inquest would not be held."

The detective said he finally was allowed to make an investigation.

He described how he found the stocks in the prison camp yard, and asked Courson "if the prisoner had those on when he died."

"Yes," Gasque then looked in the sweat box. "It was in a very un sanitary condition," he said.

"I found the chain still hanging from the rafter overhead," the detective said. He said Courson admitted after he had questioned him that Maillefer had been chained up by the neck and died that way.

Gasque quoted Courson as saying "Jersey" (that was Maillefer's camp nickname) "was determined to run away and I was just as determined to keep him."

The next day, Gasque said, he returned to the camp. "Courson wouldn't let me inside the stockade while I had my gun," he said.

"I went inside and asked a group of prisoners if they knew anything about the case."

"We know plenty," about a dozen men replied.

Before the county detective took the stand other convicts added their testimony to the lurid picture of events surrounding the death of Maillefer.

James H. Travis, serving 12 years for robbery, said that after the youth's death Captain Courson approached him saying:

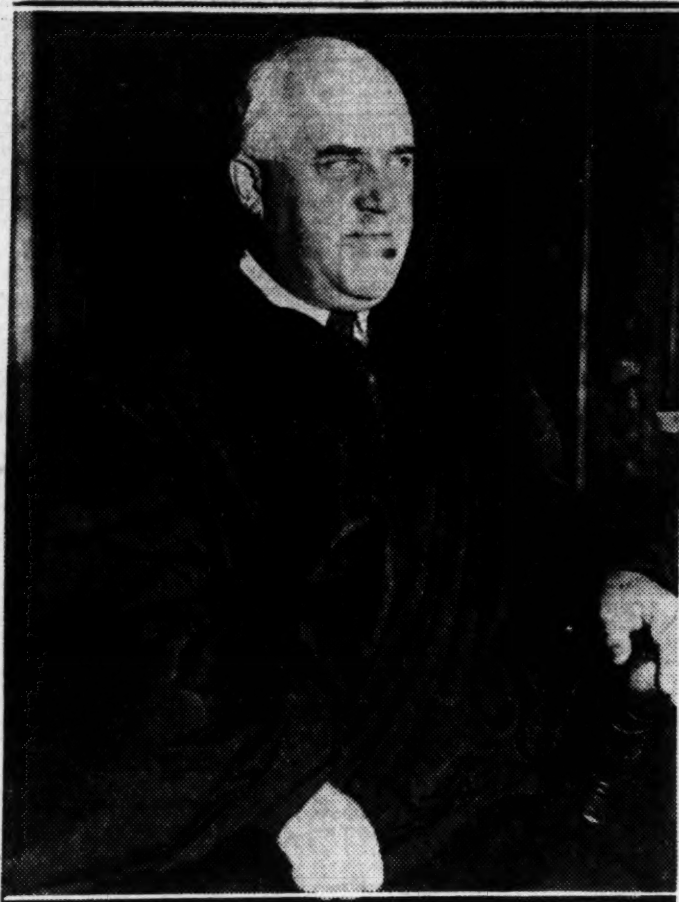

"Travis, I appreciate the attitude you boys have taken in this, but you are on the wrong side of the fence. The gate is wide open for you to get on my side."

"I laughed in his face and walked away," the witness declared.

Travis and R. L. Smith, another convict who served along with Maillefer in the Sunbeam camp, where the death occurred, drew spectators tense.

RAIL COMMISSION MEETS IN GOTHAM

Baruch Named Aid to Coolidge at Organization Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Active efforts to diagnose the ills of the nation's railroads were begun today by a non-partisan committee of public leaders headed by former President Calvin Coolidge.

The new board of inquiry, sponsored by important banks, insurance companies and institutions, held its first session in the offices of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, one of its members, in the Empire State building.

The meeting, besides adopting the title of "The national transportation committee," discussed a program for an investigation expected to last at least three months, and appointed Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution, of Washington, as chief investigator to employ experts and assistants to conduct the inquiry.

The members of the committee, besides Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Smith, are Bernard M. Baruch, financier, who will act as vice chairman; Alexander Legge, former head of the farm board, and Clark Howell, publisher of The Atlanta Constitution.

Coolidge and Smith, republican and democratic leaders, greeted each other warmly and, so far as could be learned, talked about everything except politics as Coolidge is characteristically few words, told of the purposes of the committee.

At the same time, Baruch, Legge and Howell smiled occasionally as the movie machines ground out the pictorial record.

Following the picture taking, the other members of the committee, including Smith's private office and Mr. Coolidge spoke to the assembled reporters.

"This committee has been formed for the purpose of studying the problems of transportation," he said. "We

MILK PRICES RISE IN CHAIN STORES

2-Cent Increase Per Quart
Results From Recent Farmers' "Strike" Here.

As the result of the recent milk strike, Atlanta's Friday began paying 2 cents a quart more for milk.

At chain stores pasteurized milk which has been selling for 9 cents was raised to 11 cents a quart, and pints, which before the "milk strike" sold for 5 cents, now are selling for 6 cents.

The increase of 8 cents per gallon in the price charged the consuming public is said to result from increase of 2 cents a gallon now paid by Atlanta distributors over the old price in effect before the recent milk "holiday."

Settlement of the milk strike called by the Georgia Milk Producers' Association was made after distributors agreed to begin paying producers 16 cents a gallon for raw milk on October 1. Previously the producers had received a gross price of 14 cents a gallon for their milk. It was announced at the time of the settlement of the strike that the 16-cent gross price would go into effect on October 1, and that on November 1 the gross price would be 18 cents a gallon. It further provided that on December 1 the Atlanta distributors would give the producers 20 cents a gallon for raw milk. No price arrangement beyond December was made.

During the week the strike was in effect officials of the producers' confederation insisted that they were striking because the price paid them by distributors was too much out of line with the price received by the distributors from the consuming Atlanta public. The producers asserted that there was no reason why the Atlanta consumers should be forced to pay an increase if the milk producers' demands were met.

In answer, the distributors, in advertisements setting forth their attitude in the milk war, took the position that any raise in prices paid to them to the producers would have to be reflected in higher prices charged the consuming public. At the time the settlement was reached, however, no mention was made by either side of a forthcoming consumers' increase.

ILLINOIS PRESSES MOVE FOR RETURN OF TWO INSULLS

Samuel Still Missing
From Paris Hotel as Martin Prepares To Fight Extradition.

By the Associated Press.

Samuel Insull was still missing from his Paris hotel last night and his brother, Martin J., slept again in a Canadian jail as Chicago authorities renewed their endeavors to extradite them in connection with the collapse of their vast utilities domain.

For the third day, Samuel Insull could not be located in Paris, where he retired in self-exile last summer when millions were lost as some of the major Insull companies went into receivership or bankruptcy.

The Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune reported that Insull and his son, Samuel Jr., were in Turin, Italy, Wednesday night and went to Florence the next day, but there was no trace of them there last night.

John A. Swanson, state's attorney at Chicago, obtained a $10,000 appropriation for the extradition and prosecution of the Insull brothers, who have been indicted on larceny and embezzlement charges.

Martin Insull is under arrest at Barrie, Ont., while Chicago officials seek to obtain his return.

"We'll do everything possible to get them back to stand trial," said Swanson, who expects a bitter legal fight and continued his investigation of the Insull financial downfall.

RELEASE OF INSULL WILL BE OPPOSED

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 7.—(AP)—John Hampton, assistant state's attorney of Cook county (Illinois) announced today that he would do his utmost to prevent the release in bail of Martin Insull, former utilities magnate, who is in jail at Barrie pending the outcome of an extradition action.

With his quarry safe in jail, Mr. Hampton left by airplane for Chicago to further the work of getting both Samuel Insull and his brother, Samuel, who is now abroad, back within the jurisdiction of the Illinois courts.

"We are going to concentrate now on getting Samuel Insull back here," he said just before he boarded his airplane.

"We hear he has left Paris and gone somewhere, but we are going to find him and we are going to get him back here."

STRAUS CO. PLACED IN RECEIVERSHIP

"Fraud on Public" Charged to Old New York
Bond, Mortgage House.

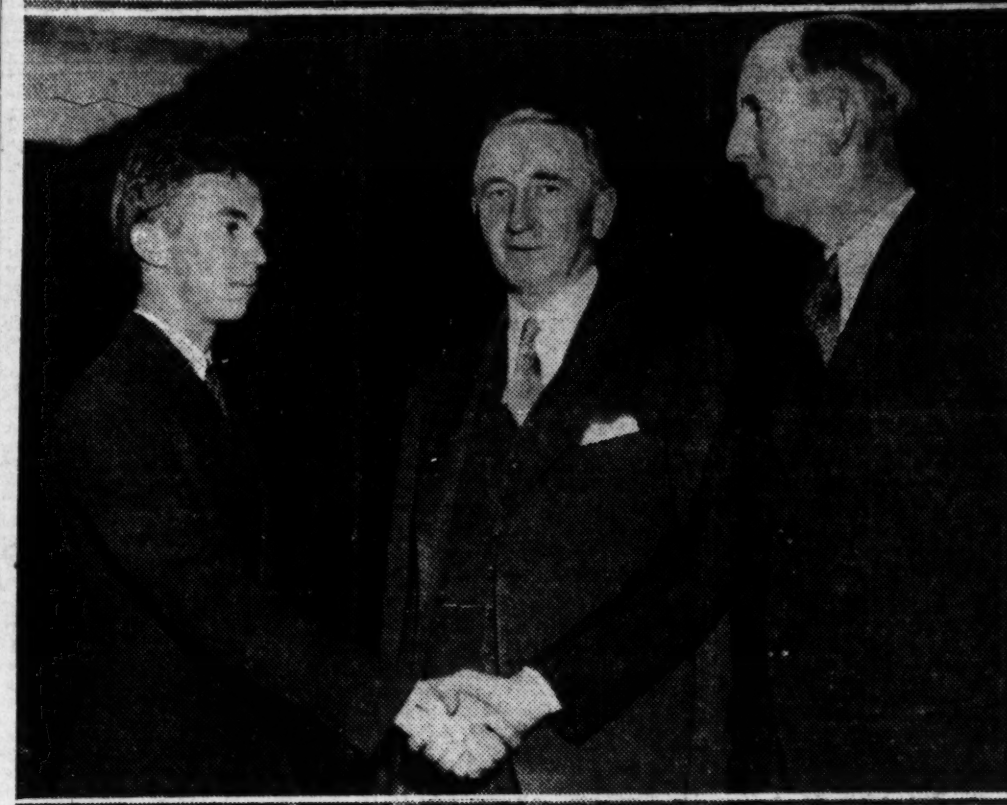

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—S. W. Straus & Co., an estate bond mortgage firm, said to have sold a billion dollars' worth of bonds in more than 60 years history and having been in business today, has been ordered into temporary receivership and enjoined from further dealings in securities, unless and until the company has represented the company of its stock to prospective purchasers.

The application for receivership, made by Attorney-General John J. Bennett, charged the banking and securities house with "fraud on the public generally." Receivership action was taken by Supreme Court Judge J. Alfred Norton in Brooklyn.

Justice Norton ruled in part: "It is fully satisfied upon the record before me that the defendants permitted an unsuspecting public to purchase the so-called 'Straus bonds'."

DEKALB OFFICER IS KILLED BY AUTO

C. L. Phillips Fatally Injured, H. E. Fowler
Hurt in Accident.

C. L. Phillips, DeKalb county policeman, was killed, and Harry E. Fowler, 33, of 1639 Pelham road, N. E., secretary to Charles V. Rainwater, secretary-treasurer of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, was severely hurt late Friday night on the highway three miles beyond Avondale Estates, when a third car crashed into a group on the edge of the road.

Phillips died within an hour after being taken to Emory University hospital. He had received a fractured skull, internal injuries and serious cuts and bruises on the head, face and body. Fowler's right leg was broken, his body bruised and cut, and he received from severe shock.

Sam Worthly, 32, of Tucker, Ga., driver of the car said by DeKalb police to have crashed into the group on the roadside, was held in jail at the pending investigation of the fatal accident.

The tragedy was the climax of a pursuit by DeKalb county policemen of the car and another couple, equipped by his wife and another couple. According to Policeman George

Atlantan Near Death After Highway Crash

Pinned beneath a new sedan after it turned over three times near U.S. 41, R. A. Battle, of 192 Oxford street, S. E., chief clerk to the master mechanic of the N. C. & St. L. railroad in Atlanta, late Friday night was critically injured. Six other persons, including his wife, also were hurt.

Physicians at a Macon hospital said that Battle had a chance to recover. Mrs. Battle suffered fractured ribs. Others injured included their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Dorsey Trippie, a daughter, Miss Dorsey Battle, and their mother, Mrs. Dorsey Trippie. Battle, who was driving, ran the car off an embankment in attempting to avoid another automobile. It was said, Members of the party were on their way to Jacksonville, Fla., to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Haden.

Oden Mills Contributes To Democrats-Indirectly

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Oden Mills, secretary of the treasury, lost a bet, democratic national headquarters announced tonight, and as a result his personal check for $100 has gone into the Roosevelt-Garner campaign fund.

"Last fall" the announcement said, "Mr. Mills made a bet with a prominent Maryland society man that Governor Roosevelt would not be nominated for the presidency."

"Recently Secretary Mills paid his bet and the lady winner promptly indorsed the Mills check over to the democratic national campaign committee with the request that it be added to her previous contribution."

"For once Mr. Mills' faculty for wrong guessing has done some one good," the announcement said. "He said for his desperate efforts last spring to guess how much money would be needed to balance the federal budget."

FAIR AT LAKEWOOD TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Races, Shows, Vaudeville
on Concluding Program.
Successful Event Seen.

When the gates of Lakewood park close tonight "finis" will be written on the 1932 edition of the Southeastern Fair, which has been proclaimed as one of the most successful in years from many angles, despite the fact that practically every kind of weather in the forecaster's catalog except rain and ice was produced during the week.

Today, therefore, is the last chance Atlantans will have to see Georgia's annual spectacle of the products of the state produced, as well as to amuse themselves with the famous carnival shows, novelty rides and other attractions that appear here only once during the year.

The reports showed that $122,277.64 was advanced to financial institutions, including insurance companies and railroads, in August. For relief purposes, governors of states were authorized to borrow $13,931,689.

The American Cotton Cooperative Association was authorized to borrow $35,000,000 and the Cotton Stabilization Corporation $15,000,000. Up to September 21 these last three sums had not been disbursed.

In a letter accompanying the report, Chairman Pomeroy said that during August the corporation also allocated an additional $10,000,000 to the secretary of agriculture, for loans to

HOOVER APPEALS FOR WOMEN'S VOTE

President Says Future of Nation Depends on Outcome of November Test.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Hoover today urged "every woman everywhere who believes in our cause" to enter actively into the political campaign, assuring that upon their voting on election day "rests a large measure of the responsibility for the future of our country."

He spoke by radio from the cabinet room of the White House, his address forming part of a "Hoover Day" celebration arranged by the women's division of the republican national committee.

The president invited women to compare the republican record with democratic proposals during the past three years. As in his speech at Des Moines last Tuesday, the chief executive named various proposals sponsored during the last session of congress by those he called "our opponents," and asserted that "the nation would have destroyed recovery; they would have thrown us from the foundation of 150 years of careful upbuilding."

The president was introduced by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, of the republican national committee. She said many in the radio audience had followed his leadership during the days of the war, and turning her remarks directly to Mr. Hoover, added:

"They have kept the faith, Mr. President."

While not being able to applaud now, she said, they would applaud "in a mighty chorus" on November 8.

Mentioning that same date, Mr. Hoover said the election then would be one "of deep seriousness in its consequences to the future."

"It will not only determine," he said, "whether proven measures now winning this battle against depression shall be exchanged for unknown experiments, but it will determine the course to be pursued by the nation for many years to come in the solution and advancement of these great questions."

The president outlined these major tasks as before the nation, naming them as recovery, which he said "is now in the state of winning competition with the forces of economic depression as a protection against a recurrence of the depression, and an

R. F. C. Chief Is Overridden As Loan Data Are Revealed

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Overriding objections of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's chief, Mr. Charles E. Pomeroy, to the release of the report of the last 10 days of July, which was the first period in which the relief act was advanced to financial institutions, including insurance companies and railroads, in August. For relief purposes, governors of states were authorized to borrow $13,931,689.

The American Cotton Cooperative Association was authorized to borrow $35,000,000 and the Cotton Stabilization Corporation $15,000,000. Up to September 21 these last three sums had not been disbursed.

In a letter accompanying the report, Chairman Pomeroy said that during August the corporation also allocated an additional $10,000,000 to the secretary of agriculture, for loans to farmers for production purposes, bringing the total outlay under this provision of the reconstruction act to $185,500,000.

The report was submitted to President Hoover on September 29, along with Pomeroy's protest over the house clerk's previous publication of the report for the last 10 days of July, which was the first period in which the relief act was advanced to financial institutions, including insurance companies and railroads, in August. For relief purposes, governors of states were authorized to borrow $13,931,689.

M'KEE DECLINES TO RUN FOR MAYOR

O'Brien Not Expected To Be Candidate Again.
Republicans To Enter
Race in City.

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—"Al" Smith, the "Happy Warrior," will take the stump in four states, it was learned tonight, and campaign in the interests of a democratic victory in November.

While the number of his addresses will be limited, he plans at present to speak in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New York.

Delegations from all four of those states supported him in the Chicago convention, and two of them, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, gave him their clearest endorsement in 1928.

Although it was announced in Illinois Smith would speak there, it was learned he has not yet added that state to his list of appearances.

The possibility of Smith entering the Roosevelt-Garner speaking campaign was seen by democratic leaders after he had brought 10,000 cheering men and women to their feet at the state convention last Tuesday by grasping the governor's hand in friendly greeting.

Against Curry.

It was a fight against Tammany Chief John F. Curry's attempt to withhold the gubernatorial nomination from Herbert H. Lehman that brought them together on the same platform.

With the realization they had won the nomination, their mutual friend, the standard bearer of 1928 and the standard bearer of 1932 re-emphasized a friendship that had been interrupted by a bitter fight against each other for the presidential nomination.

Forty-eight hours after they had stood in the glare of spotlights dining at each other over the deafening demonstration, they saw James J. Walker, whom they both had opposed for reelection as mayor, facing at least temporarily from the political picture.

There was no indication of when a formal announcement of Smith's speaking plans would be made.

His office answered all questions by stating "he has no political speaking engagements on his calendar at present."

Smith's friends already were talking of him as a likely democratic organization candidate for mayor next year.

At the same time friends of Walker, who declined to run for mayor in a dramatic radio message to Curry, said they believed he might be interested in running for the senate at some future time.

New York is electing one senator this year and the democrats already have selected United States Senator

JUDGES, ATTORNEYS TO HEAR HUTCHESON

Noted Texas Jurist Will Speak at Dinner at 6:30
O'Clock Tonight.

Members of the judiciary from superior to supreme court and representatives of the federal court of appeals for this district will gather tonight with representatives of the Atlanta Bar Association to honor Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr., of Houston, Texas, presiding judge of the United States court of appeals of the fifth judicial circuit. A dinner will be tendered the distinguished jurist at 6:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

The gathering will include a regular meeting of the Atlanta Bar Association, which will hear Judge Hutcheson deliver the principal address, upon invitation of a committee of the local bar which is arranging a series of such meetings to bring before the association prominent citizens from every section of the United States.

On the committee of arrangement are Robert C. Alston, Marion Smith, John A. Sibley, Reuben R. Arnold and John L. Tye Jr.

In addition to Judge Hutcheson, guests of honor tonight will include Walter T. Colquitt, president of the Atlanta Bar Association; Judge Nathan P. Bryan, of the fifth district federal court; Judge Rufus E. Foster, of New Orleans, and Judge Samuel H. Sibley. In addition, judges of the Georgia supreme court, the court of appeals, Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. and Senator Walter F. George have been invited.

The fifth judicial circuit, United States court, has jurisdiction over federal cases in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia and the Panama Canal zone.

U. S. PARTICIPATION IN BUSINESS HIT BY POULTRYMEN

Governmental participation in business in competition with private individuals or concerns was condemned in resolutions adopted by the fifty-seventh annual convention of the American Poultry Association Friday as it brought to a close a five-day convention at the Piedmont hotel.

The resolution cited "complaints from the convention floor and in various sections of the country charging the department of agriculture through the agricultural extension service and its county agents drawing federal salaries with participating in commercial transactions in direct competition with taxpayers, private enterprises and individuals."

Prior to the adjournment Friday delegates decided to select the convention city for 1933 at a later date. More than 100 delegates attended the convention of the association, which is the largest poultry group in the world and the second largest live stock organization of any kind.

Coroner of Clayton Probing Chazen Death

Sam Chazen, 47, junk dealer, of 137 Atlanta avenue, died suddenly Friday afternoon near Morrow, Ga., under mysterious circumstances, which caused Coroner J. L. Reeves, of Clayton county, to recess the inquest until 8 o'clock this morning in order to obtain more information, according to reports from Jonesboro.

According to the story told by J. R. Bramblett, of 207 Cret street, driver of a truck, Chazen, who was a passenger, had him stop the truck near Morrow, and, while Bramblett waited, Chazen went into a patch of woods. Bramblett became worried when Chazen failed to reappear after a long wait, and he investigated, finding Chazen practically unconscious, it was said.

Bramblett called an ambulance from Jonesboro, but Chazen was dead before the ambulance arrived. Investigators reported finding a stopper which smelled of carbolic acid, but they failed to find a bottle anywhere near the body, it was said.

Chazen is survived by his wife and one son, Julius Chazen, and three brothers, Joe, Phil and Sol Chazen. Funeral services will be held at noon Sunday from the chapel of Sam Greenberg & Co., Rabbi Harry Epstein will officiate. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR WILL ATTEND SERVICE

Sunday morning the Knights Templar of the Couer de Leon and Atlanta commanderies will make their annual official visit to a local congregation by attending the worship service of the Peachtree Christian church, Rev. Robert W. Burns, pastor.

R. Q. Fortune, commander of the Couer de Leon commandery, and Charles B. Barnes, commander of the Atlanta commandery, have united their respective organizations for this public expression of the religious ideals of their order.

Two hundred members are expected to march in the formal procession, which will be organized in Spring street, just south of the church. All members will be in full uniform. As the march proceeds toward the church the lower chimes will play "Onward Christian Soldiers," the hymn used by the Knights Templars each year. Special music for the service will be given by the two choirs of the local church, using "Holy Art Thou," by Gounod, and the "Sanctus," by Handel. Mr. Burns will preach on "The Recovery of Reverence."

HUEY LONG NOT TO AID NEW CONTROL MOVES

Any movement for cotton control legislation in the future may have to be made without the help of Senator Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, statements made by the senator in New Orleans Friday indicated.

Asked if he would act on the suggestion of commissioners of agriculture, McDonald, Texas, and Talmadge, Georgia, that he take the leadership in calling a southwide conference, Long said: "They have waited too late in the season to do any good." He would not elaborate on his statement.

Long led the 1931 movement, which Talmadge backed.

MRS. TILLIE SALOSHIN PASSES IN NEW YORK

Mrs. Tillie Saloshin, 70, formerly of Atlanta, widow of Louis Saloshin, died Thursday in New York city, where she had been living for the last two years.

Mrs. Saloshin's husband, who died in 1918, was assistant foreman of the composing room of The Constitution and worked for the paper for 44 years. Mrs. Saloshin, born in Cincinnati, lived in Atlanta more than 20 years. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Madeline Hardy, of New York, and a son, Milton Saloshin, of Atlanta. The body will arrive in Atlanta this afternoon and interment will be in Oakland cemetery. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Sam R. Greenberg & Co.

Morris Plan Bankers Optimistic, According to President of Association

NO GOV'T. AID HAS BEEN REQUIRED BY THESE COMPANIES

107 Morris Plan Banks and Companies Operate in Over 140 Cities. George Winship and C. T. Greer Attend Meet.

BY VICTOR BARRON.

George Winship and C. T. Greer, executive officers of the Morris Plan Company of Georgia, have just returned from attending the thirteenth annual convention of the Morris Plan Bankers' Association in Washington, D. C., which brought approximately 135 representative industrial bankers from all sections of the country.

The Morris Plan Company of Georgia, established in 1911 by Arthur J. Morris and the late W. Woods White, was the second institution of this group in the United States. It is operated under the direction of George Winship, as president, and C. T. Greer, executive vice president and treasurer.

Mr. Greer declared that an air of conservative optimism prevailed at the convention, and while no one felt like that "we are entering a period of decided pick-up in business," the majority held the opinion that conditions have materially improved in the last several months.

Bankers Optimistic. The membership of the Morris Plan Bankers' Association was reported to be at its highest, four new members being accepted during the past year—Burlington and Wilmington, N. C.; New Bedford, Mass., and Orlando, Florida.

No group of financial institutions has the right to feel more optimistic about the future than the Morris Plan banks," said Robert O. Bonnell, president of the Baltimore bank, at the convention.

He said: "No bank has asked for federal aid and none has closed its doors, nor has any investor lost one dollar of principal or interest."

Hoover Receives Delegates. Mr. Greer said that President Hoover received the delegates and guests at the White House and that a group photograph was taken.

J. Rodney Ball, president of the Morris Plan Bankers' Association, reviewed at length the problems incident to the founding of the republic under George Washington, citing the fact that it was proper at "this time for the bankers to meet in the bicentennial city."

In his statistical report, President Ball stated that at the end of June there were 107 Morris Plan banks and companies operating in more than 140 cities.

Woco Pep Lubrication Extends Life of Automobiles

In addition to quality products, which is the true foundation of any business concern's success, the Wofford Oil Company, of which Wiley Moore is president, has more than 1,400 Woco-Pep stations dotting virtually every section of Georgia. These stations are operated by courteous service managers. The company is distributor in Georgia of Pure Oil products, including Purol Ethyl, Tioleone Motor Oil and Woco-Pep Motor Fuel. A photo of the Perfect Service Station, Gainesville, is shown here.

Wholesale Price Index Slightly Off

Professor Irving Fisher's index of wholesale commodity prices reacted three fractional points during the week ending September 16, after practically an unbroken advance of 12 weeks. For the week ended September 23 the index dropped to 62.4, an additional reaction of five fractional points.

September 9 the index stood at 63.2, the highest point reached since March 11, and the peak of the price advance which started on June 24, continuing steadily with the exception of 0.1 drop during August. The present figure compares with the low of 59.3 reached June 17 and with 68.7 for September a year ago.

Postoffice Receipts.

Postoffice receipts for 21 Georgia cities during August amounted to $457,169, a gain of 2.4 per cent over the $446,237 total for the corresponding month a year ago and a gain of 3.3 per cent over the preceding month of this year.

he said, "amounted to $80,300,000. The loan volume reached a total of $89,900,000 for the first half year. This volume represents $99,599 accounts."

$170,000,000 Resources. "While the great majority of Morris Plan banks are independent entities, their combined capital as of June was $17,838,000 and the combined surplus $17,408,000. Total resources were $170,400,000."

Undersecretary of the Treasury Ballantine addressed the Morris Plan bankers. Referring to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, he stated that up to September 1 it had authorized 7,500 loans to 5,600 organizations, aggregating $1,412,000,000. Of this amount, $824,000,000 was authorized to 4,718 banks and trust companies (including $32,000,000 to aid in the reorganization or liquidation of 376 closed banks), $80,000,000 to 845 building and loan associations, $72,000,000 to 79 insurance companies, $83,000,000 to 68 mortgage loan companies, $12,125,000 to live stock and agricultural credit organizations, other millions to joint stock land banks and federal land banks, and $243,000,000 to 49 railroads and railroad receivers."

The dull thud of pigskin, the shrill blast of the referee's whistle, the chill of autumn air, all tell us that football season is with us again.

Dixie fans attending the Southern conference games, for example, can, almost without exception, enjoy the splendid, uniform service rendered by the popular Blue and White courtesy service stations located, as they are, in the towns and cities dotting the highways from the mountains of Virginia and Tennessee to Florida and the Gulf coast states.

"Atlanta and Georgia people attending the Georgia-Tulane game at New Orleans; the Tech-North Carolina game at Chapel Hill, N. C.; the Georgia-Vanderbilt game at Nashville, Tenn.; the Auburn-Duke game at Birmingham, or any of the other season's classics, will find their favorite Woco-Pep, Dixie's great motor fuel. The 100 per cent super Pennsylvania motor oil, that gives a thousand miles of safe lubrication to the fill, and Purol Ethyl gasoline, which gives a premium grade for high-compression motors," said Wiley L. Moore, president of Wofford Oil Company of Georgia.

"Before leaving for the game, drive into one of these Blue and White courtesy service stations for your motor needs. There will be a trained attendant who will check every detail of your car and insure that you know the exact condition of it before you leave. Also ask for your copy of the latest Dixie road map. It is yours for the asking," said Mr. Moore.

The Wofford Oil Company's blue and white stations are practically every section in the state. The concern is distributor in this section of Purol Ethyl, Tioleone motor oil and Woco-Pep motor fuel.

The lubrication service of the company is one of the most efficient and thorough in operation in this state today, as well as being economical. The company has saved motorists thousands of dollars as the result of its check-chart system.

Improper and superficial inspection of automobile trucks, passenger cars and other motor vehicles by mechanics not fully advised or properly qualified in the most expensive thing which the owner has to contend, according to officials of the Wofford Oil Company.

Satisfied Customers. Service station managers of the Wofford Oil Company, or rather the Woco-Pep stations, are thoroughly experienced in all forms of lubrication. The chief aim of this company is "satisfied customers." That is one of the main reasons why one sees so many Woco-Pep stations en route in all parts of the state and adjacent states.

The life of any automobile is extended many years if it is given proper lubrication inspection and when necessary lubrication is applied. Few people realize that they have a heavy investment in an automobile. It should be given the same treatment as a home, or any other item that represents value.

When a house leaks, or the plaster is falling from walls, etc., property owners generally correct such conditions. Therefore, when an automobile begins "bucking" on upgrade, or otherwise making poor performance, it stands to common sense that it needs a dose of medicine, or that the owner has permitted it to linger too long before administering the proper medicine.

Correct Advice Given. With cold weather approaching, every motorist should stop by and have his car thoroughly inspected for necessary lubrication.

Mr. Moore has built his business upon the foundation of service of the right sort. Should a car be driven to one of his stations that does not need lubrication, then his service station managers readily will tell them that they are all "o. k."

The company's hundreds of stations are properly equipped with every facility for greasing trucks, passenger cars and buses, regardless of their size.

Many of the best and most responsible firms in the city and state, as well as countless drivers of passenger cars, are satisfied customers of the Wofford Oil Company.

DRUID HILLS STAFF HAS AN ADDITION

Druid Hills Methodist church to its staffed Saturday the addition of its staffed Rev. Edward W. Harris, B.D., as director of religious education and assistant to the pastor, Rev. John Stranahan Peters, M. A., D. D. Mr. Harris, who is a senior in theology at Emory University, will assume his duties after Sunday. As director of religious education he will largely have in charge the great organizations of young people of the church.

He has long been active in this church and is well known and liked by the membership, which will be delighted at his appointment.

Mr. Harris will be installed as director of religious education and pastor's assistant at the installation service Sunday evening at the regular church worship hour. This service is planned for him and the officers in the young people's division of the church. This division under the plan used by the church consists of the intermediate and young people's department of the Sunday school and the Epworth League, of which Druid Hills boasts four.

Winston Burnley, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Burnley, a former Emory student, has had the honor conferred upon him of being nominated by the young people themselves to succeed to the position of president of the young people's division. This position has been most successfully filled by Benjamin Hutchinson until this time. At the installation service the pastor, director of religious education, the president of the division and every officer of the division will each have part in the responsive reading, after which the officers will meet the pastor at the altar and receive the benediction in the people's covenant. Dr. Peters' sermon, which will follow this, will be for the young people.

REVIVAL WILL OPEN AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

Revival services will begin at the West End church of Christ, Gordon and Hopkins street, S. W., Sunday at the 11 o'clock service. H. C. Hale, who is the minister of the church, will do the preaching in the meeting.

Mr. Hale began his sixth year as minister of the church last Sunday, with large crowds and enthusiastic service at both hours. Services will be held each night through the week at 7:30 o'clock. Congregational hymns will feature the song service, led by one of the leaders of the church. Mr. Hale will speak Sunday night on the subject, "What Do You Know About Jesus Christ?" The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Postal Savings Deposits. Postal savings deposits on August 31 amounted to $844,883,770, a gain of $18,826,787 over July. The increase during August compares with a gain of $49,007,282 for July and a gain of $42,802,910 for June.

Cement Production. The Portland cement industry produced 7,835,000 barrels of cement during August as against 7,669,000 barrels in July.

ANNUITY PLAN INSURES INCOME DURING OLD AGE

Annuitant Has Everything To Gain and Nothing To Lose; Foundation for Financial Independence During Late Life.

Just 67,000,000 people use life insurance to offset the risk of dying too young, so the annuitant uses the life insurance annuity plan to offset the risk of living too long—the annuitant has everything to gain and nothing to lose.

"It is a pathetic fact that many a businessman will spend 30 years building up a fortune from his own business, and then, when he cashes in, will spend 30 days or less in investing it in securities concerning which he really knows absolutely nothing."

—John Moody, an authority on the science of investing.

The annuity is the life insurance plan for insuring income. A national authority on life insurance has this to say regarding annuities: "According to the S. W. Straus & Co., amounted to $32,921,292, an increase of one-half of 1 per cent over July, when the total was $32,747,091. August, 1932, however, was 70.2 per cent below the same month a year ago."

The accompanying table gives building permits for five Georgia cities. BUILDING PERMITS (VALUED) FIVE GEORGIA CITIES.

City— Atlanta—2,778 $12,210 Augusta—2,089 75,072 Savannah—16,376 42,651 Macon—13,262 38,801

Old-Age Income. "4. The annuity plan means that old age is pushed to the rear of the approach of death. The freedom from care and worry, the absolute mental rest, the certain knowledge that each month the check will be in the mail box, the ability to plan and live on a comfortable scale of life, the joy of independence, all this makes old age a life of the very limit of the mortality table. The old saying 'Annuitants never die' did not arise without foundation."

"5. The annuity investment has been specifically designed to meet the needs of old-age income. Why use the businessman's investment or the banker's investment when the annuity is the ideal investment for the elderly man or woman?"

"6. The annuity is an investment in old-age financial contentment, an investment in dreams come true and ambitions realized, an investment in leisure and freedom from financial care and worry, an investment that yields the maximum guaranteed-for-life old-age income."

"7. The annuity is financial music, the music of dollars jingling in the old man's pocket, waiting to buy life's good things for him."

Value of Savings Stressed By Ga. Savings Bank & Trust Co.

The value of a savings account in some sound institution has never before in history of the country been so emphatically impressed upon the American people than has been the case the last two years.

Those who have appreciated this essential fact in the past today appreciate their foresightedness more than ever. Thrift, in its proper application, is one of the soundest business policies in existence.

Of the more than 124,000,000 people in the country, more than 87,000,000 have savings accounts, according to C. F. Hunter, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Georgia Savings Bank & Trust Company—Atlanta's oldest and most conservative savings institution. It has been operated since its foundation in 1880 by George M. Brown.

Quotes Colledge. The institution is located on the ground floor of its building, 74 Peachtree street, or the old Flat Iron building, now known as the Georgia Savings Bank & Trust Company building. The company, with resources of more than $4,500,000, pays a 4 per cent interest to its depositors.

Mr. Hunter further commenting on savings, quoted the following from an article written by former president Calvin Coolidge: "While absolute safety has been impossible to secure, it is probable that the records of money deposited in properly regulated banks in this country would show over a series of years that it has been the safest place to keep funds."

Building His Business. Mr. Hunter also pointed to incidents in the life of Benjamin Franklin, in further stressing the value of savings. He said: "After years of struggling to get a start, at 24 Benjamin Franklin became sole proprietor of the printing office that he had founded as a partner a few years before. Having learned the value of reputation, in developing the business that was to yield him a comfortable fortune, he regulated his life with much discretion. And later he told it: 'In order to secure my credit and character as a tradesman, I took care not only to be in reality industrious and frugal, but to avoid all appearances to the contrary. To show that I was not above my business, I sometimes brought home the paper I purchased at the store through the streets on a wheelbarrow. Thus being esteemed an industrious, thrifty young man, and paying duly for my stationery, the merchants who imported stationary solicited my custom; and I went on swimmingly.'"

Slight Increase In Building Permits

Building permits in 595 cities and towns of the United States during August, according to the S. W. Straus & Co., amounted to $32,921,292, an increase of one-half of 1 per cent over July, when the total was $32,747,091. August, 1932, however, was 70.2 per cent below the same month a year ago.

The accompanying table gives building permits for five Georgia cities. BUILDING PERMITS (VALUED) FIVE GEORGIA CITIES.

PLANT DISTRICT RALLY AT WESLEY CHURCH

Dr. R. L. Russell, presiding elder of the Atlanta district, announced a district rally for the 44 pastoral charges of the city to be held at Wesley Memorial church on next Thursday.

Dr. Wallace Rogers and Colonel Walter McElreath are the speakers for the occasion, and a large delegation of representatives from the various Methodist churches of Atlanta are expected to be present. In an effort to secure 100 per cent attendance, Dr. Russell has offered 25 new dollar bills to the church having the largest percentage of officials present. Much interest is being manifested over the contest.

REV. E. M. ALTMAN TO PREACH SUNDAY

Rev. E. M. Altman, pastor of the Grant Park Baptist church, will deliver two special sermons Sunday. At 11 o'clock his subject will be, "Where Are the Dead?" At 7:30 o'clock he will bring a message on "The Second Coming of Jesus Christ." It is expected that large congregations will be present to hear these subjects discussed.

Special music will feature each service.

CONTAGIOUS WARD AFFILIATION SEEN

Educational Advantages for Grady Internes, Nurses Sought by Hines.

Co-operative operation of the contagious disease hospital through which the 200 nurses and 45 internes at Grady hospital will be given the advantage of instructional service at the disease ward was seen Friday afternoon following an appeal of Dr. Joseph H. Hines, medical director of Grady, to a joint meeting of the hospitals and charities and sanitary committees of council.

At the present time the contagious disease ward is under the operation and direction of the city health department, headed by Dr. John P. Kennedy. A move has been made to place it under the Grady board of trustees and it developed at the meeting Friday afternoon that Kennedy and Hines are in accord in the stand that Grady attaches should have the advantage of contagious disease training.

The committees adjourned without definite action, but with an understanding that another meeting will be held before the next meeting of council, October 17. In the interim, plans to permit the Grady board to establish their attaches in charge under the general direction of Kennedy are expected to be evolved.

Evidence purporting to show that Mrs. Charles M. Barnes, nurse in charge of the contagious disease ward, was cruel to patients and employees and disrespectful to the public was offered by Dr. James J. Martin, former head of the hospital for 16 years; Miss Kathryn Clark, former nurse, and Charles Jester, 14, a former patient.

Dr. Kennedy said he had not been apprised of such irregularities until recently, and that he was making an investigation. Mrs. Barnes was not before the committee, Kennedy explaining that the complaints came as a surprise.

"Our only interest in the contagious disease ward is to give our 200 nurses and 45 internes the advantage of the educational facilities it offers them and which they must have if Grady is to keep its rating as a grade 'A' hospital," Dr. Hines said.

"As you all know, Grady has a temporary rating. We cannot even hold that unless we can show that our attaches the educational services the contagious disease hospital offers. If we can get that, we shall be able to be a grade 'A'."

"I know Dr. Kennedy well. He is a good man, and I know we can work harmoniously."

Able Vets Are Scored On Bonus Demands

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Brigadier General George B. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, tonight told the military order of the World War that he could see no justification for a former soldier's demand to provide for himself seeking government aid.

"I can see no justification for a veteran applying to his government for aid who is well able to provide for himself. The fact that we may be financially able to provide for all, regardless of the factor of need, does not change the principle involved."

TODAY'S SERVICES END OBSERVANCE OF 'PRAYER WEEK'

The final day's observance of "Penitential and Prayer Week" in which Atlanta churches are participating with houses of worship throughout America, will be devoted today to the theme of "Discipleship." The committee which is sponsoring the period of devotionals has suggested the following program of prayer and meditation for today's services:

"Discipleship." "Daily Text: 'If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whosoever would save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it.' Matt. 16:24-25."

"Scripture References: Matt. 10:24-33; Luke 14:25-33; Matt. 28:15-20; John 13:31-35; Heb. 11:32-40."

"Meditation: Dare we call ourselves Christian in the face of this stern mandate expressed in the daily text? It has been said: 'To be a Christian is not just to learn by heart the spoken words of Jesus or to imitate externally the acts reported in the gospels. It is to reproduce in our lives the life of Jesus in a new and individual way—the life behind those words and acts.' Have we succeeded? 'A disciple is a learner—a follower. Do others recognize me as a disciple of Christ? How may I improve my discipleship? Discipleship costs. Its mark is a cross. Does my discipleship cost me anything of time, money and service? Then, a faithful disciple of Christ is concerned about winning others to become His followers. To what extent am I doing this? In these days of financial and moral depression, Christ calls every disciple to a new devotion to Him and His church. What will be my answer?'"

"Prayer: Renew within us a high sense of our duty to God and men. Give us the abundant life which Thou didst come to bring. May we be led to make it a great and glorious adventure in a world where the need is great and God and men are urging us to do our best. May we hear the challenge of Christ and with unswerving devotion give all we have and are for a needy world, in the name of Him who stopped not at the cross. May we hear Him saying: 'If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.' Lead on, O Christ of the fulsome way, of the marketplace and the need of men, of Gethsemane and Calvary, and give us grace and strength to follow Thee! Amen."

New Chest Program Described at Meeting; Services Pledged by Enthusiastic Workers

The present president of the Community Chest and three past presidents met at the rally Friday to discuss the 1932 campaign against want. Frank Neely, at the extreme left, is this year's leader. The others, who served in past campaigns, are, from left to right, Hugh M. Willet, Bayne Gibson and Al Thornwell. Staff photo by George Cornett.

The Community Chest, as Atlanta's safeguard against human disaster, against future distress and crime, against disease and bitter want, was described to workers in the Chest campaign for public support at a rally Friday afternoon.

The meeting in Rich's tea room assembled several hundred outstanding Atlanta men and women, who pledged with enthusiasm their efforts to make the campaign successful, after hearing from social workers a review of the widespread program of Chest activities.

Actual records formed the basis of this review—a family that was helped back to independence and usefulness from the brink of disaster through co-operation of six Chest agencies, each working in a separate field—a child reclaimed from disaster and placed in a home of love and security—a youth whose life was salvaged by guidance and training in his leisure hours—a group of Atlanta physicians who gave without cost to the needy more than 11,000 personal and clinical treatments, at estimated value of $25,000 to $50,000.

It was an "educational meeting" for campaign workers and speakers, with the Rev. Herman L. Turner, chairman of the speakers' bureau and co-chairman of the general campaign, in charge. It resulted in a tribute to the social workers who perform the task of the Chest agencies and whom Mr. Turner described as "educated, well-balanced agents of the public, filled with great sympathy."

Representing the family welfare function of the Chest group of agencies, Miss Angela Cox described in detail of service by relating the history of a single family, every one of whose four members presented a different problem and who, by patience and resourcefulness, were saved from delinquency, disease and death.

Miss Mary Newell, secretary of the Child Welfare Association, described the child care function, with its goal of "a home for every child and that love and security that a home provides."

Major Norman Marshall discussed the character-building agencies and their goal of improving standards of home and citizenship. Dr. C. C. Aven discussed the health work and the free service by physicians.

The Chest performs in seven functions grouping, which were described by Frank H. Neely, president of the Chest, as including child care, family welfare, care and guidance of boys and lone men, of girls and lone women, health service, social service and community co-operation, thus covering every human need.

Reduction of administrative expense of social service in Atlanta from 4.5 cents to 3.7 cents of every dollar expended, one of the lowest figures in the United States, was related by Frank Miller, executive secretary of the Chest. Elimination of duplication and waste of effort and funds through the Social Service Index, one of the Chest's departments, was described by W. Henry Smith. The Rev. C. R. Stauffer, in charge of radio programs of the campaign and the year-round promotion, outlined plans for a concentrated radio appeal this fall.

The campaign, which has opened in its preliminary phases and which will be carried into its stage of public appeal on October 24, seeks this year $400,000 for the Chest agencies and $100,000 for emergency relief purposes, it was explained by Arthur S. Bird, general campaign chairman.

Educational Campaign Is Planned To Expand Use of State Produce

A five-year plan for Georgia agriculture, whereby experts of the Georgia State College of Agriculture's extension division will educate the consuming public in the economic advantages to be derived from utilization of Georgia products, was announced Friday by Miss Katherine Lanier, newly appointed state leader of home demonstration agents in Georgia.

Not only will the plan, if successful, find training in his leisure hours—a group of Atlanta physicians who gave without cost to the needy more than 11,000 personal and clinical treatments, at estimated value of $25,000 to $50,000.

Five assistants will have charge of the program in the large centers of the state.

"Traffic accidents are not avoidable," declares W. P. Borland, safety director of the interstate commerce commission.

"For all practical purposes there is no such thing as an unavoidable accident," he said. "Particularly is this true as to collision between two automobiles or between two trains, for someone is at fault. While casualties from railroad accidents have been decreasing for years, there has been a constant increase in the number on the highways."

Mr. Borland further stated that the public had developed an attitude of indifference towards automobile accidents, partly because those charged with enforcing the traffic laws often turn them unavoidable.

There are reckless drivers who run down and kill pedestrians, and sometimes these reckless drivers are found guilty of assault and attempt to murder.

But that isn't much consolation to the crushed pedestrian snugly sleeping in one of Atlanta's cemeteries. And it doesn't bring money and food and comfort and security to widows and children of those who have been bowled over and killed by onrushing automobiles.

Why not protect them against what should you fall victim to a wreck, killed in a burning building or be stranded out in other ways by tragedy? If you do not have the famous travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, this insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 69 on the one subscription going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $100,000 for total disability resulting from deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy. All this for only $1 registration fee—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy is issued by the American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill. The reliability of this concern is proved by the fact that already more than $150,000 in cash has been paid on claims to Constitution policyholders.

This insurance is offered to old and new subscribers alike. One who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Paid-in-advance mail subscribers can also have this insurance by paying the small registration fee of $1 in addition to the subscription price. Those living in Atlanta and suburbs finding it inconvenient to pay the $1 registration fee in advance can pay 20¢ registration fee with the application and 20 cents for five consecutive weeks thereafter in addition to the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired, the full Christian name of the beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

Other persons treated Friday in the emergency clinic of Grady hospital for accidental injuries included: Winton Strickland, 6, 38 Saunders, N. E., fell on rock, lacerated lip.

Roy Crowley, 2, 650 Ashby, hit with auto crank, lacerated head.

Mrs. H. H. Webster, 26, 322 Ponce de Leon, fell in bathtub, injured left side and chest.

Tom Ales, 42, 873 Parkway drive, was caught fire and burned both hands.

Johnnie Kinkade, 2, 386 Rawson street, fell on bottle and cut chin.

Mrs. Emma Brown, 58, 214 Boulevard, fell and fractured left arm.

Barrett Levine, 19, 328 Hunter, S. E., lacerated hand in football game.

Dorothy Richardson, 6, Riverside, Route No. 7, lacerated hand, hit by truck.

CRISP TAKES OATH OF FEDERAL POST

Georgian Officially Becomes Member of Tariff Commission.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The federal tariff commission announced in a formal release today that Representative Charles C. Crisp, of Georgia, recently appointed a member of the commission by President Hoover, has taken the oath qualifying him for his new duties. The oath, it was stated, was taken in Georgia, Mr. Crisp not being expected to take over his post until October 11.

The Georgia congressman, one of the ranking democratic members of the lower house, was named to a democratic vacancy on the commission after the recent state primaries in which he was an unsuccessful candidate for the United States senatorial nomination. His appointment is for the term ending June 16, 1937, the vacancy having been created by the death two days after the primary of Lincoln Dixon, democrat, of Indiana.

His appointment brings the tariff commission again to its full strength of six commissioners. These commissioners are Robert L. O'Brien, chairman, republican; Thomas W. Page, vice chairman, democrat; Ed. B. Broadhead, republican; John Lee Coulter, republican; Ira M. Ornburg, democrat; and Charles R. Crisp, democrat.

Arch M. Conway, 52, of 1197 Virginia avenue, N. E., general agent for Georgia of the Provident Life and Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, died Friday at his home after a long illness.

Mr. Conway, a native of Blacksburg, Va., was well known in the insurance circles throughout the south. He had been in the insurance business in Atlanta for more than 25 years.

Mr. Conway is survived by his wife, Mrs. Frances S. Conway; two sisters, Mrs. Harvey Price, of Blacksburg, Va., and Mrs. William Capers Mitchell, of College Park, and a brother, Alfred Conway, of Nashville, Tenn.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, the Rev. J. G. Patton, of the College Park Presbyterian church, will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery. Pallbearers will be A. A. Acklin, M. L. McKinnon, W. M. Mitchell, H. W. McClary, George Leonard, Robert Quinn, J. C. Loeb and Frank Coffee.

Castellow Qualifies For General Election

B. T. Castellow, of Cuthbert, democratic nominee in the new third district for congress, succeeding Charles R. Crisp, Friday qualified with John B. Wilson, secretary of state, for the unexpired term of Congressman Crisp to be voted on in the November 8 general election.

Congressman Crisp resigned to assume a post on the federal tariff commission. Governor Russell issued a proclamation today setting the election for the same date as the general election and Castellow's decision to seek the unexpired term, which runs to March 4, 1933, was received by Secretary Wilson at almost the same hour.

Voters in the old third district will cast their ballots for the unexpired term of Crisp. He was serving from the old district, having been elected in 1930, the year before re-districting of the legislature.

The time for qualifying in the general election closes today.

Injured Gridiron Star Is in Serious Condition

Maurice G. Greene, 18-year-old star fullback of the Georgia Military Academy football team, who Thursday night was injured seriously by a Tech High tackle as Greene was running back with the kick-off in the second half, remained in serious condition Friday at Crawford V. Long Memorial hospital, where he was taken by Physicians feared Greene had received a rupture of the kidney.

A senior at G. M. A., young Greene is one of the most popular prep football stars in Atlanta. He is a native of Santa Rita, N. M., and lives by himself in Atlanta, his parents residing in Dallas, Texas. The injury resulted when a Tech High lineman tackled him, the tackler's head butting him in the body.

Only trained workers are capable of looking after the details of relief work, Mrs. Leonard Haas, a member of the Council of Jewish Women and of the Family Welfare Society, said in endorsing the forthcoming campaign of the Community Chest.

"The forthcoming campaign of the Community Chest for funds with which to carry on its operations should meet the hearty response of every fortunate enough to be able to contribute," Mrs. Haas said.

"No individual giving other than to an organization could begin to meet the needs of destitute people. No one individually would know where to reach the needy."

"The Chest organization through its trained workers not only knows who these people are but makes it its business to become acquainted with each case and adapt its service to that case."

When a family needs more than money. It may need rehabilitation. It may need medical care, advice on its methods of living. In all these things the Community Chest is in the best position to serve."

Power Hike for WGST Is Before Commission

Hearing on an application by WGST, Georgia Tech radio station, for a construction permit to increase the day and night power has been set on the calendar of the federal radio commission, but no definite date has been assigned, according to Loren L. Watson, manager of the Atlanta station.

The application was for an increase of power from 250 watts night, and 500 watts day, to 500 watts night, and 1,000 watts day operation.

Mr. Watson explained that prospects that WTPI at Athens would suspend operation prompted the application. At present Georgia's quota of power granted by the radio commission is exceeded by a fraction of a unit and a request to use the facilities of the Athens station was considered in order to fill the state's quota of radio power.

Negroes Sentenced.

Two negro murder cases were disposed of Friday by Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court, one by trial and one by a consent verdict. Wyrman Robinson was given life imprisonment for the murder of Dennis Dorsey. By consent verdict George Stephens was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter, and given 10 years in the state of Fletcher Smith.

Effective October 9th, Southbound and October 10th, Northbound, Sleeping Car Service will be discontinued on our Atlanta-Thomasville Line.

Tech Is Ready for Kentucky Here; Georgia Off To Meet Tulane

EN ROUTE TO NEW ORLEANS WITH GEORGIA FOOTBALL TEAM, Oct. 7.—I do not know why it is, but on all football trips it seems that everyone on the train gets into one drawing room.

When that is done several fellows who were not on the train, but who got on at the yards, come in and we make room for them.

The next move finds several brands of cigars, cigars and pipes brought out. They are soon lit, or rather they are lit if the fellows sitting on each knee and standing on both feet, move enough for you to reach a pocket.

Until the smoke gets going well, no one seems really happy. The good, clean air of the drawing room will not do at all. As soon as the room is filled with smoke and the faces vaguely visible, the occupants may be heard to inhale great gulps of the healthful smoky air.

There is a little fan which churns up this tobacco fog and keeps little sparks blowing around. As soon as a few cigarettes have been dropped on shoes, into coat pockets and on pressed pants, the clean, fresh odor of burning yarn mingles with the tobacco smoke. It may be that a small hole will be burned in the plush seat. This odor of plush is really invigorating.

As soon as this condition is attained the football trip may be said to be officially on. Usually a few more fellows come in and hold onto the suitcase racks, knocking them down from time to time on the noggin below.

The man back in the corner, who cannot be seen because there are four or five others packed in front of him, starts things off by wondering what Wallace Wade's Duke team will do against Auburn.

This brings a quick response. There are always a half dozen or so fellows who know Wallace well. Or maybe they know Chet Wynne, of Auburn. And they talked to them recently. And got the low-down.

"Wallace was telling me," says the man in the suitcase rack, "that he was afraid about his tackles. He said..."

"Aw, nertz, he was kidding you," says the man who knows Wade better than anyone else. "I know how he plays his tackles. Don't tell me."

"I can tell you about Wynne, though," says the traveling man in soaps who has just come in. "That boy has got them."

He doesn't say what he has got so it is left like that. Like as not Chet Wynne has the jitters as most coaches do on the eve of a big game.

Buried deep in the mass of humanity in the drawing rooms are usually a couple or so of newspapermen and a coach or two. But no one ever pays them any attention. Which may be justice, after all.

Every now and then some fellow gets tired having people on his knees and shoes, and goes out to get a little air. But he usually brings back two or three friends as soon as he finds the air outside isn't so healthy.

Along about daybreak the coaches and newspapermen are uncovered as the mass of salesmen and fellows who knew a friend of yours years ago, clear out. The newspaperman has waited all this time to ask the coach what the lineup will be. Lineups always seem so important, although why, I can't imagine.

And the coach says: "I haven't made up my mind yet."

The coach is usually pretty groggy, and so he cannot be blamed for not knowing his own lineup. And the reason the coach is usually pretty groggy is because he has listened all night to a lot of cattle men and lingerie salesmen tell him about the team his team is to meet and how to win.

Football trips are great things. The trips to the coast or to Texas or to New York are the real trips. On trips like those the drawing room talking and smoke-eating contest goes on night and day for 24 and 48 hours. Or more.

I have just come from the room to finish this up and drop it off at the telegraph office. And it seems to me that the boys aren't smoking as fast as they used to.

It is possible to breathe smoke tonight for a couple of hours without getting up and going out for some of the harmful fresh air with pneumonia germs in it.

THE BULLDOGS ARE NOT DOWN-HEARTED.

Trainer Jonsey took me through the Bulldog Pullman, and showed me that all the Bulldogs have teeth this week.

"In the V. P. I. game," he said, "I was afraid to let people know it, but the Bulldogs had no teeth at all. Maybe you noticed it?"

I told him I was away watching Tech and did not see the game.

"Well," he said, "they were just beginning to cut their teeth. Now I am wondering if they are strong enough to chew on these Greensies down there in New Orleans. The Greensies are so baked by heat in summer and so stung by mosquitoes that they are a pretty tough article. And so I don't know."

Some of the young Bulldogs, who are making their first football trip, seem a bit nervous, but this is a good sign. Bulldog Buster Mott is here, and his teeth are in great shape. So are the teeth of Bulldog Homer Key. I rather expect these two Bulldogs to mangle a few of the Greensies tomorrow afternoon at New Orleans.

The last I saw of Jonsey, the trainer, he was giving the Bulldogs lime juice, which is a great thing for strengthening the teeth.

IT SEEMS A BIT STRANGE.

It seems a bit strange to a football reporter who started traveling with the Georgia team the year that Catfish Smith, Ripper Roberts and the others began traveling as sophomore players.

It gave me quite a feeling to walk through the Pullman and miss the faces which I saw after Yale and N. Y. U. had been turned back. The new faces are there, but the old ones are gone, the ones I started with. The years do get along.

But it is still a great crowd of boys and a great game they play. It makes one think, though, of just what a coach is up against. He teaches one crowd to play the game and then, just as they learn it, they are gone and he must start all over again.

TULANE HEAVY FAVORITE.

Tulane rules a heavy favorite. I rather expect that Georgia supporters should be satisfied with a good showing. Somehow I expect this team to make as good a showing, or a better one, than any Georgia team has made against Tulane in the past three years. It may be just a passing fancy, but I expect it just the same.

Tulane has more good men than Georgia. They have played together longer. An upset is highly improbable. Yet it is quite likely that Georgia will make a good showing. The return of Buster Mott helps, offensively and defensively.

As a football reporter across some 10 years, I have seen few victories in the Tulane stadium. I've seen Vanderbilt, Tech, Georgia, Washington State and other teams go down before the surge of the Green Wave. Once I saw Vanderbilt stop Billy Banker and win. But that was years ago.

My, how I'd like to see a Georgia victory Saturday!

Time, 2:30 p. m., Grant field.

By Jimmy Jones.

The Blue of Old Kentucky comes back to meet the Gold of Georgia Tech in a football game for the first time since 1923 this afternoon at Grant field.

This renewal of the case of Wildcats vs. Jackets, which has been restaged in the Southern conference for nine years, will become an actuality when the teams line up for the kick-off at 2:30 o'clock.

In 1923, Tech met Kentucky in the seventh game on her schedule, the Saturday before Thanksgiving. That meeting ended in a 3-3 tie and everybody went home happy, so the story goes. Ivan Williams, kicked up a field goal for Tech's score. Doug Wykoff was on that Tech team.

This afternoon, Harry Gamage, the eminently successful Kentucky coach, sends a team out to meet an Alexander-coached eleven for the first time. The tall, dignified tutor of the Wildcats was not the Kentucky coach in 1923.

TENNESSEE JINX.

Since that time he has come along to achieve national notice in the Blue-Grass land for his perennial trick of spoiling the University of Tennessee's season completely by coming up with a tie or a victory over the House of Orange.

Kentucky takes the place of Carnegie Tech on the Jackets' schedule this year, and with ideal atmospheric conditions prevailing, a crowd of 16,000 is the forecast.

Last night, in his suite at the Biltmore, Gamage was inclined to spar with reporters over the destiny of this particular Kentucky team. He impressed upon his audience that he was not yet assured of its greatness, despite a 23-0 victory over V. M. I., and a subsequent 18-0 trouncing of Sewanee.

He pointed out that Kentucky lost five backs last year and flunked out two, not to mention the exodus of the stalwart Babe Wright from his line. No sophomore backs have come up to take the place of these men. In fact the only sophomore who did Kentucky any good at all is Joe Rupert, the left end.

"I had to switch Skinner from end to tackle and Darby from a guard position to the backfield," Gamage explained.

BACKFIELD GOOD.

He pointed out that some of his other regulars were subs last year. He decried his starting backfield, Ralph Kercheval at quarter, Darrel Darby and Pug Bach at halves and Tom Cassidy at full as capable enough, but in not so good a line as the one he had in 1923.

"Johnson is not yet a regular," he explained. "Ellis, however, weighs 175 and is considered by scouts to be the best running back of the Wildcats, along with Bach."

"Sometimes we think it is a fine team and then we are not sure of what it will do against stronger opposition, such as Tech, for instance," Gamage continued.

He has liked the work of Pug Bach thus far, but is not sure that his present backfield is a sufficient recompense for the loss of a trio like Shipwreck, Kelly, and Kercheval. These three kids kick the socks rather rudely in the middle of the line.

The ultra conservative Gamage was not slow to remind his hearers that the Wildcats' tackle, Skinner, is very well with his, particularly when Cain is at left tackle and "Peewee" Williams at right.

He also commented on the fact that Tech with around a dozen backs of speed variety, would have him licked on backfield reserves. It is only natural that Coach Gamage should be cautious, since it is Kentucky's chance to score its first victory on Grant field. That game in 1923 was the first and only one played between the two teams.

Both teams are in good shape for the game.

All of Tech's cripples have been restored to working strength again through the magic rubbing hands of Trainer Mike Chambers. These include Dave Wilcox, sophomore right guard, who was hurt by a tackle last week, and a tackle who was hurt by a tackle last week.

The last I saw of Jonsey, the trainer, he was giving the Bulldogs lime juice, which is a great thing for strengthening the teeth.

It gave me quite a feeling to walk through the Pullman and miss the faces which I saw after Yale and N. Y. U. had been turned back. The new faces are there, but the old ones are gone, the ones I started with. The years do get along.

MCLARNIN WINS OVER LEONARD IN 6TH ROUND

Challenger Awarded Technical Kayo With Knock-out Impending.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A pale, blood-thirsty, slightly balding figure, the shadow of one of the greatest lightweights of all time, sagged helplessly into the arms of the referee to-night and Benny Leonard was at the end of the comeback trail—the victim of the youthful punching of Jimmy McLarnin.

With only five seconds of the sixth round to go, Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the fight and awarded the verdict to McLarnin on a technical knockout. Leonard, his resistance gone and even his once superb defense no longer effective, was swaying groggily under a hail of blows to the head and body, obviously the target for a knockout blow, when he was saved from absorbing further and unnecessary punishment.

From the moment McLarnin dropped Leonard for a count of nine in the second round, with a right to the jaw, the outcome of this dramatic bout between the old-time champion and the impetuous young Irishman never was in doubt.

Leonard gave a masterful exhibition of boxing at the outset, winning the first round amid a tumult of applause from the packed arena, but he had neither the stamina nor the punch to cope with his young foe from there on.

The crowd, numbering 18,000 cash customers who contributed to a "gate" of $80,000, viewed the contest with mingled emotions. Leonard received a terrific ovation when he entered the ring, drawn and somewhat pale.

His early efforts received thunderous applause as he repeatedly sent McLarnin miss like a schoolboy, but as quickly as it became apparent Benny was just a shadow of his old self, without anything like a dangerous punch, the galleries underwent a sudden change in sentiment.

Leonard, facing terrific handicaps in strength, punch and aggressiveness as he gave away 11 years to his opponent, made the gamut kind of a stand after taking the long count in the second round for his only visit to the floor. Nevertheless his inability to give the crowd anything beyond a flash of his old boxing skill, his defensive cunning and ring generalship brought down repeated choruses of boos and jeers from the gallery.

MERCER FACES PRESBYTERIAN

MACON, Ga., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Presbyterian College's fighting Blue Stockings met the real menace of the South, Saturday will battle with an old rival, Mercer's Bears, in Centennial stadium here. It will be the second home game of the Blue Stockings and over 5,000 persons are expected.

Mercer began its quest for the Dixie conference championship last Saturday by trouncing Howard, 21-6. Tomorrow the Bears begin their bid for S. I. A. A. honors against the Clinton speedsters.

The Blue Stockings arrived here this afternoon, 30 strong, and had a short workout in Centennial stadium. The Bears went through a light practice just before the Stockings took the field.

Mercer is favored to win tomorrow because of the power in its line, but the Bears will be crippled because of injuries to Nat Reason, end, and Swann, tackle, both of whom will not be able to play. Coach Russ will play Al Bunch at tackle for Olsson and Bob Sperry, regular left guard, at left end. Red Camp will play left tackle, while Gordie Reddick, the regular left tackle, moves to left guard.

The probable lines are:
Mercer: L.E., Copeland; L.T., Walcott; L.G., Elliott; C., Reeder; R.G., Reeder; R.T., Reeder; R.E., Reeder; Q.B., Reeder; L.H., Reeder; R.H., Reeder; F.B., Reeder.

Presbyterian: L.E., Elliott; L.T., Walcott; L.G., Elliott; C., Reeder; R.G., Reeder; R.T., Reeder; R.E., Reeder; Q.B., Reeder; L.H., Reeder; R.H., Reeder; F.B., Reeder.

Clark Will Meet Claflin Tonight

Clark University opens its season at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon with Claflin College as its opponent. Brice Taylor, a former football star at Southern California, who during his playing career ranked among the best in the west, is coaching the Claflin aggregation and has molded to gether a strong team.

A crowd of 1,500 is expected to witness the first game of the season here. Many white fans who annually witness colored games will be on hand.

Seven events have been scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon at Lakewood park in the close of the annual Southeastern Fair Association auto race program. Final awards of points for the year's dirt track champion will be made immediately after today's program.

Drivers from all sections of the country are ready to add to the season's track awards, as well as try for circular mile dirt track records in the special events carded.

The track, due to recent rains and strong wind Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, is faster than at any time in recent months and, with a little scraping today, it should be in perfect shape.

The schedule:
EVENT NO. 1. Introduction of cars and drivers, Ten minutes will be allowed drivers to warm up motors and become familiar with the track.

EVENT NO. 2. Southeast sweepstakes, first heat. Two eliminations heats and a final. Cars finish in first and place positions in this event do not start in event No. 3. Drivers will be announced at 1:30 p. m. and starting times at 1:45 p. m. Distance, 3 miles. Limited to nine starters. Second heat, 3 miles.

EVENT NO. 3. Consolidation race. Cars that did not place in events No. 2 and 3 eligible. Distance three miles.

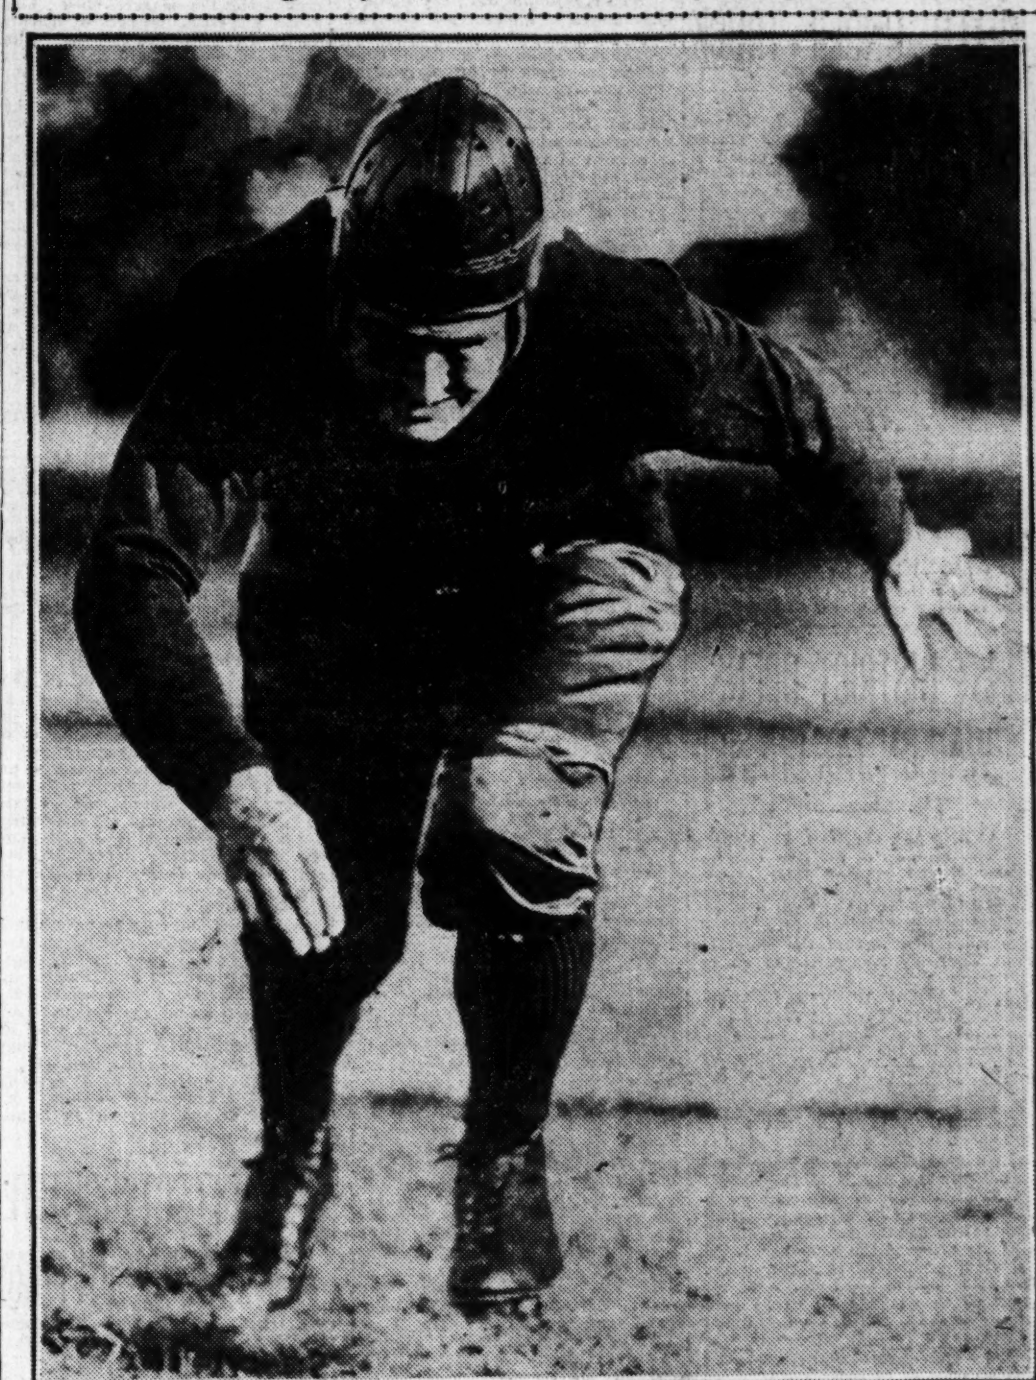

EVENT NO. 4. Special event to be announced.

EVENT NO. 5. International four-cornered match race. Handicap. Callaway, Powell and Peterson.

EVENT NO. 6. Southeast sweepstakes, final heat. Distance to be announced and will depend upon track conditions. This event open to cars finishing in first four positions in events No. 2 and 3 and winner of event No. 4.

EVENT NO. 7. Introduction of cars and drivers, Ten

Gangway for the Kentucky Express

Not an army tank, ladies and gentlemen, merely Bud Davidson, 215-pound guard and captain of the Kentucky Wildcats, getting off to a charge. Davidson is the second heaviest man in the line of the big blue eleven which faces Georgia Tech at Grant field this afternoon. Frank Seale, the Tucky center, weighs 225.

YALE, CHICAGO HOLD INTEREST

By Lou Little, Head Football Coach Columbia

Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.—Eastern football, swinging into its stride of major competition more slowly than the west, nevertheless finds several highly interesting battles on the cards for tomorrow, with some games that include worthwhile sidelights even aside from the technical football that will be on display.

One of the Yale-Chicago intercollegiate game in the Yale bowl. The notable veteran of the coaching profession, A. A. Staggs, sends his eleven against Ben Cheney, an indomitable line cracker; Jap Hart, Sam Gallo, Johnny Ferguson and Pat Barron, among other backs, will be tossed into the cage with the Wildcats, and if they're not enough there will be Captain Monk Nebett, Tarzan Lackey, Jerry Goldsmith, Wilcox and other star players for support.

Georgia supporters, remembering 1929 when the Bulldogs lost the opening game to Oglethorpe and then staged a comeback that left a trail of dazed and bewildered foes in its wake, are hopeful that the team will be far enough advanced to give Tulane a real old-fashioned battle at New Orleans.

No Felts will be found in the Greensies' lineup, but there will be a number of fast, elusive backs named Zimmerman and Payne. And a couple of linemen or so named Seafide. The end situation at Tulane seems to be taking care of itself.

AT CROSS-ROADS. Over at Birmingham Duke's Blue Devils and Auburn's point-a-minute Plainsmen, both unbeaten and reputed to be high-strung offensively, will meet at the cross-roads.

Neither Duke nor Auburn has been scored on this season. Auburn has run up 138 points in two games against fairly negligible opposition, while Duke has tallied 85 points against stronger opponents. The Blue Devils' defeat of V. M. I., 44 to 0, last Saturday was the Cadets' worst licking since 1914. Previously, Davidson had bowled to Duke, 13 to 0.

But Auburn opened with a 61-0 victory over Birmingham-Southern and not so many years ago—fact is, very recently—the Tigers and Panthers were considered fairly equal. Followed the 77-0 rout of Erskine.

For the speed motif, Coach Chet Wynne is going to depend on Casey Kimbrell and Sterling Dupree, a couple of 10-second backs; for power, Firpo Phipps, Marion Taylor, Rogers

Grid Season Swings Into Full Stride Today

Tech-Kentucky, Auburn-Duke and Tulane-Georgia Battles To Draw Major Interest.

By Jack Troy.

This is the day for the boys who play parlay to try to figure out what Tech will do to Kentucky, Auburn will do to Duke and Georgia will do to Tulane or vice versa. This, the second big week of October, is going to be the most mortifying to somebody. Two of the front-running brothers are doomed to turn aside in the race for honors.

Well, boys, how you do it? Right here in the old home town, Kentucky and Tech will determine which shall continue along the unbeaten road.

Grant field may be the scene of a punting-passing battle, or it may see a contest of backs or a scuffle of lines, but whatever it is, the game will be worthy of closest attention.

Coach Ellis E. Jenkins will be out weighed considerably in the line, what with such gargantuan of the gridiron as Frank Seale, 230-pound center; Captain Lawrence Davidson, 220-pound guard; and John Drury, 180-pounder who plays either guard or tackle; and others opposite them.

KERCHEVAL. Then there is Ralph Kercheval, an artist who paints pictures of woe with his kicking and running and passing. And his compatriots, Ellis Johnson and Bach. Not to mention Skinner.

Tech's Ben Cheney, an indomitable line cracker; Jap Hart, Sam Gallo, Johnny Ferguson and Pat Barron, among other backs, will be tossed into the cage with the Wildcats, and if they're not enough there will be Captain Monk Nebett, Tarzan Lackey, Jerry Goldsmith, Wilcox and other star players for support.

EN ROUTE TO NEW ORLEANS WITH GEORGIA TEAM, Oct. 7.—Georgia's football squad of 30 climbed aboard the de luxe (I believe that is the word) Crescent tonight in anything but a subdued mood.

The Bulldogs, it seems, haven't been reading the papers, a very, very bad habit but helpful at times to football teams. It seems that a few passes pictures of the Tulane team in an old almanac, and discovered that the Tulane Greensies have just two legs and arms and look very much indeed like human beings instead of fire-eating monsters.

There are just a few veterans on the team who were concerned in the licking which Georgia took last year from Tulane. And, anyhow, that was last year. There is King's X, as the boys say, on anything that happened last year.

LARGE ENOUGH. The Bulldogs look large enough. In fact, they are large enough. It is all a matter of experience.

My operatives in New Orleans tell me that the Texas Aggies had little trouble running the Tulane ends, and were able to complete a few passes. Harry Mehre and the Georgia coaches, of course, had this same information. And it would not surprise me in the least if Buster Mott and Homer Key go around the Tulane ends for a few yards. And a judiciously spaced pass or so might work wonders.

I do not think the Georgians can crack the big Tulane line where Schroeder and Seafide and other two-ton tanks are lurking. But I do think they can round the ends and throw some passes. In other words, I think Georgia will score.

DEFENSE UNCERTAIN. It remains to be seen what the Georgia defense will do. The Georgia attack is likely going to have some strong within a few weeks. The defense may not do so well. It is a question what the defense will do against passes.

We may expect more improvement out of Georgia than Tulane for the simple reason they had more room in which to improve. Just how far the Bulldogs have rounded the ends and throw some passes. In other words, I think Georgia will score.

STARTING CHANGES. There are some starting changes. After the workout of an hour and a half, which found the squad prancing about in excellent humor, the Georgians boarded buses and rode to Atlanta.

"Butch" McClough, a guard, will start tomorrow as one of the new line men. At an end, is another new starter.

The remainder of the lineup is about the same. Mott will go in at left halfback. Sullivan, who kicked well Friday, will be at quarterback. It seems to have got the spirit of the thing at last and is going well. Buck Chapman and Lloyd Gilmore will complete the backfield, the latter being at fullback.

One may expect, I think, better end play from Georgia Saturday. The guards will be up against two all-southern ones at Tulane. The

FOOTBALL CARD THINK IT'S A OVER COUNTRY

Notre Dame Makes Season Debut; Yale Clashes With Chicago.

By Foster Bailey,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The football season is under way, with the first game of the season played today. Notre Dame makes its first start of the year, while Yale and Chicago are also in action.

Better football may be played elsewhere, but first place in the heart of the football fan probably will go to the meeting of Blue and Maroon as Amos Alonzo Stagg's first team leads a team back to the school where he starred as a player almost half a century ago.

By Stagg's own admission, the 1932 Chicago team is his best of recent years, while Yale is intent on receding the stigma of its 0-0 tie with little Bates last Saturday.

The game in the Yale bowl tops an eastern program, featuring such competition as Columbia-Princeton, New York University-Rutgers, Fordham-Bucknell and Dartmouth-Lafayette. Columbia, N. Y. L. Fordham and Dartmouth have been selected by most observers as probable victors, but if the tide of battle should flow the other way it would be no great surprise.

The Northwestern-Michigan game, where the result is in the eye of the gods, tops a Big Ten slate which sends eight of the 10 conference teams into action against each other. Purdue-Minnesota should be a midweek event, with Purdue given a slight edge over Bernie Bierman's first Gopher team. Indiana-Ohio State and Iowa-Wisconsin complete the conference schedule, with Ohio State and Wisconsin favored to win.

Notre Dame figures to romp over the light Haskell Indians, but the season debut of the Fighting Irish is always of interest. Hank Anderson is reported to have a fine team in the making at South Bend.

Tulane again looks like the class of the Southern conference, while Georgia, minus "Catfish" Smith and other stars of the 1931 team, appears weaker than usual. There should be a real battle in New Orleans, however, in the featured game of a light southern schedule. Georgia-Tennessee, Auburn-Duke and Florida-Georgia are other conference engagements.

Nebraska and Iowa State, champion and runner-up, respectively, in the Big Six last year, top the schedule for that conference. Oklahoma plays Kansas, Missouri, 2-0 victor of Northwestern, looks to be in for more grief in meeting Texas at Columbia.

In the Southwest conference only two games are up for decision. Arkansas-Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Rice-Southern Methodist at Dallas. Texas Christian and S. M. U. are favored to repeat last year's triumphs.

On the west coast, Stanford and Southern California meet on Monday opponents in Santa Clara and Oregon State, although Santa Clara may give Warner's team a warm afternoon. California may get a warm afternoon. St. Mary's, the giant killer from coast, Washington and Oregon should have a warm afternoon at Seattle.

The two service schools, Army and Navy, take on minor opposition at home in Carleton College, of Northfield, Minn., and Washington and Lee, respectively.

REESE PLAYS RICHARDS TODAY

Billy Reese, Georgia Cotton States and Atlanta tennis champion, will meet Vincent Richards, high-ranking professional star of the United States, at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon at an exhibition match.

The tennis match will be finished in time for spectators to witness the Tech-Kentucky football game this afternoon at Grant field.

The match will be free to the public and seats have been arranged to care for a crowd of 300 persons. First come will be first served. There will be plenty of standing room for several hundred more.

Richards is connected with the Dunlop Sporting Goods Company and is on a good-will tour of the country.

Reese, a sophomore at Georgia Tech, is one of the most promising young tennis stars in the state and passed his way through a trio of the outstanding tournaments in Georgia during the summer season.

Gardner and Burgess were outstanding backs for Decatur, the former scoring three touchdowns and the latter two. Gant also crossed the double strike twice, and Kirkpatrick once. Passes from Gardner accounted for two extra points.

The entire Decatur line played well, while quarterback Keneer was best for Decatur. The game marked the twenty-seventh consecutive victory for Decatur over Georgia high schools.

Score by periods:
Decatur.....6 19 0 27-52

Lanier Battles To Beat Columbus

MACON, Ga., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The Columbus High school football team, heralded as the best in the school's history, battled the Orange and Green team of Lanier High to a standstill for the first half today, and then lost, 7 to 0, through their inability to stop the Poets' 55-yard march for a touchdown in the third quarter.

Louisville Gridsters Down Waynesboro

LOUISVILLE, Ga., Oct. 7.—Louisville Academy's football squad defeated Waynesboro High on Academy field today, 13 to 0. Louisville scored in the first and second periods, but a right football was played in the last half.

Substitution Rule Fully Discussed By W. S. Langford

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of four explanatory stories on football rules, written especially for the Associated Press.)

By William S. Langford,
Secretary National Football Rules Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The more liberal substitution rule which is in this year's football rules allows a player to be substituted for another at any time but a player withdrawn from the game may not return in the same quarter in which he was substituted.

A player withdrawn during an intermission between quarters is not allowed to return until after the start of the subsequent quarter. Players are not permitted to leave the field during these one-minute intermissions.

As heretofore each team may request that play be suspended for a period of not more than two minutes three times during each half, without penalty. Thereafter, unless the purpose for calling time is to remove an injured player for whom time is called, a penalty of five yards is exacted.

This change was made so that there would be no possible excuse for failure to take out of the game promptly any tired or injured player. Thereafter, unless the purpose is to remove an injured player (unless made for the purpose of replacing an obviously injured player) are to be allowed to return in time also, and for some other purpose such as when the ball goes out of bounds, after an incomplete forward pass, a fair catch, or a score, etc.

If a substitute is to replace an injured player, goes on the field and by this act necessitates the stopping of the watch, his team will be penalized five yards for delay of game. This should curb the indiscriminate and disconcerting sending-in of substitutes at any or all times as in the past.

GARIBOLDI GETS TEST TUESDAY

When Jimmy Gariboldi finally yields the purple to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, most critics are of the opinion that Pete Sauer, Jim McMillen or Ed (Strangler) Lewis, all native-born Americans, will be the new titleholders.

This, however, is open to argument, for there is a strong brigade of foreign grapplers also bidding for the crown, and their challenge must be taken into consideration. One of the head men in this field is Giuseppe Gariboldi, the Italian, who appears here Tuesday night against Willie Davis, former W. P. I. grid star.

Gariboldi, because of his reputation, will be the favorite to take the title. He is a strong, husky, Italian, but fans who have seen Davis here on former occasions know that he is fully capable of scoring an upset. Big and rangy, the ex-Columbia star is fast, foot, aggressive and has been wrestling long enough to become familiar with all the tricks of the game.

Paul Jones, the champion from Texas, will be a welcome part to Atlanta in the one-hour semi-windup. This time he will tackle Pat (Doc) Hensley, the University of Kentucky football player, in what should be a stirring battle. Hurley, like Gariboldi, will be making his first appearance in the ring, and he is expected to be one of the best of the younger matmen.

Tickets are on sale at the Miner & Carter, Inc., company and the Piedmont Hatters.

BOYS' HIGH WINS COLLEGE MEET

Boxing Finals Slated Tonight

Due to the fact that the program was cut short Thursday night due to unfavorable weather, the state amateur boxing tournament now in progress at the Southeastern Fair will be held over until tonight. There are three undefeated boxers each in the flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight and lightweight divisions and these men will fight tonight for the championship belts. It was announced that in addition to these fights there will be six other bouts on the program. At the conclusion, championship belts will be presented to all winners.

The finals were scheduled for last night and several bouts were fought at that time, but it was not possible to get in all the scheduled bouts on the program. Admission to the entire program tonight, which includes vaudeville and fireworks, will be only 25 cents adults and 10 cents for children. It starts at 8:15 o'clock.

The amateur fights, staged in connection with the Southeastern Fair, have been very popular. Not a single bout has been decided on a foul. All were won in the ring.

Both Favorites in Conference; Minnesota Meets Purdue.

By Dr. C. W. Spears,
Head Football Coach University of Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 7.—Big Ten teams swung into action for the conference struggle Saturday. Eight of them pair off against each other while Chicago plays Yale in the east and Illinois tackles a smaller opponent in Bradley.

Probably the headline will be Michigan-Northwestern. Both teams are favorites for the conference title. Barring a tie game, one will be eliminated Saturday.

Michigan met a far harder test in a very impressive manner last Saturday in Michigan State than did Northwestern in Missouri. Michigan, while it lost some of its line material from last year and a great center, proved beyond doubt there is no weak spot on the team. Two excellent ends, a capable line, a great fullback in Regecki, who is a fine blocker and excellent kicker, a fine running back in Everhart, an excellent passer in Newman, two tall, good blocking ends and pass receivers, provide all the requirements of a Michigan offense. Defensively, it was very impressive against Michigan State.

Gleaned From the Notebook of Women's Division of Atlanta Community Chest

She is "Dolly Arkwright" to her friends, and one can easily understand the affectionate appellation that connotes all the sympathy, the kindness, the humanity that is hers!

Although she insists that the women's committee took a mean advantage of her when she had to leave the organization meeting and fetch her husband; both the women's committee, who knew what it was doing, and the men's committee proclaim that naming "Mrs. Preston Arkwright" as chairman of the women's division of the Community Chest was a great stroke of good fortune. Until she took her place with the men's committee, sense of humor and perspective were swallowed up by pressing demands. But recognizing perhaps even greater necessity than her brethren, Mrs. Arkwright has brought an understanding of needs and people with so delicate a touch that the men's committee is revived and is going about its important business with a gladness that was rather lacking heretofore.

Meeting her yesterday, she was all smiles and encouraged by the appreciation of the community and her friends.

"We've got to put it over, I tell them," and she catch in her throat communicated itself into a lump in that of the listener, "it isn't a question of giving any more, it's a question of sharing."

So deep is her conviction and so infectious her spirit that every woman in Atlanta will put on her flat-heeled shoes, take to the streets and "tell the world" it's got to share!

Three College Belles To Be Tech Sponsors

Misses Aline Massey, Alice Davis and Freddie McDowell, of Moultrie, Ga., are a trio of popular college belles who have been chosen to act as sponsors for Tech's Golden Tornado at the football game this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Grant field between Georgia Tech and Kentucky.

These sponsors will wear the Tech colors, white and gold, and the school colors will also be reflected in the armful of yellow and white chrysanthemums which they will carry. These young ladies will be seated in the box of Dr. W. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech.

Miss McDowell is a student at Shorter College, Rome, Ga.; Miss Massey is a member of the Phi Pi Club in Atlanta, and Miss Davis is a member of the Sigma Delta Club.

Supper for Debutantes.
Misses Sue Burnett and Frances Boykin, two popular members of the Debutantes' Club, will be honored at a series of delightful social affairs, among which is the buffet supper at which Miss Nell Bailey will entertain Thursday evening, November 10.

The affair will be held at the home of the hostess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bailey, on Peachtree circle, and will assemble 25 members of the debutante contingent.

Invited to meet the little honor party were Betty Shaddox, Carol Baker, Harriet Ramsey, Lanelle Hall, Louise Gregory, Delcia Schubert, Jean Bronson, Edith Clawson, Mary Kilian, Specter, Ruby Gossett, Olive Ann Creighton, Ann Scobie, Hilja Johnston, Louise Soto, Peggy Aldridge, Marigold Coleman, Barbara Ann Ramsey, Frances Sorenson, Joyce Hightower, Gertrude Wyman and Carol Davis.

Kirkwood Civic League Hears Talk By Rev. Pim at October Meeting

Rev. B. Frank Pim, pastor Epworth Methodist church, in speaking to members of Kirkwood Civic League last Tuesday at Kirkwood school brought a thought-provoking message centered on the moral and spiritual privileges, opportunities and responsibilities which women have in helping to solve home, industrial, government, civic and racial problems of present-day import.

Mrs. H. G. Parker, chairman of the American citizens department of the league, introduced Rev. Pim and urged greater interest in citizenship privileges and opportunities, which is the first important step in all good citizenship achievements, she stated.

The section vice presidents, Mesdames H. E. Clark, W. E. Saunders and Tom Smith, reported interest in fall lawn planting and other improvements going forward in the community. The public welfare department, with Mrs. L. J. Cassels, chairman, held a recent meeting with chairman present, and functioning efficiently.

This department finds the calls for assistance varied and many. Mrs. A. I. Brannham, the president, reported on the progress being made in replenishing the treasury through the activities of the circles.

Miss Nellie Emory's circle is leading in the amount raised to date. The November meeting will feature the legislative department, of which Mrs. Wilber Hunnicutt is chairman.

IF I WERE YOU

By P. G. Wodehouse

Indian and placed with a wet-nurse. Naturally the woman had to have a child of practically the same age as the other infant.

"Oh, my God!" Tony passed a feverish hand through his hair. "I see what you mean. The Drotwisch baby died, and I."

"The Drotwisch baby did not die. He is alive today."

"Alive? Where?"

"Outside in the servants' hall," said Sir Herbert. "He is Syd Price, the barber."

Into the silence which followed this revelation, there cut sharply an animal cry of agony. It did not proceed from Tony, who was staring dumbly at Sir Herbert. This wail of agonized bitterness came from the Honorable Freddie.

"Syd Price my brother?" cried Freddie, appalled.

"Isn't true," said Tony dully.

"It can't be."

"It is, Tony, I'm afraid. Quite true," said Lady Lydia.

Freddie sat still, wrestling with his private trouble.

"But he can't be my brother! He's dead!"

"He wears a made-up tie," Tony said.

"Tony walked to the window, looked out, and came back to the group. He sat on the sofa. His face was white."

"I think you had better explain," Tony said.

"Quite sure," replied Sir Herbert. "How long have you known?"

"Since you were sixteen."

Tony's eyebrows shot up.

"Twelve years! You've kept it pretty close. How did you happen to find out the truth at just that particular time?"

"That part of it is perfectly simple. There was an accident on one of the suburban railway lines then, and Mrs. Price happened to be in it. She was quite unhurt, but the shock gave her some sort of a heart attack."

"She thought she was dying," explained Lady Lydia.

"Freddie said Drotwisch," proceeded Sir Herbert. "To tell him the story. In a fit of remorse, you understand, Drotwisch repented sort of thing."

"I see," said Tony.

"I was in my club when he rang me up and asked me to come straight to Knightsbridge. He was very agitated, but he wouldn't tell me anything over the wire."

"It wasn't safe. So I popped in a cab and went off to his barber shop, and there Drotwisch made Nurse Price repeat her story."

"The upshot of it was that some time during the year and a half before Drotwisch and his wife returned from India, she had substituted her baby for theirs."

"I see," said Tony.

"Freddie was still struggling gamely against his doom."

"But, dash it, you can't do that sort of thing, you know," he protested.

"Wasn't there any family resemblance?"

"I believe the child was supposed to look like his father. But, then," said Sir Herbert, "all newly-born babies looked like Drotwisch."

"You know the type," said Lady Lydia. "Round and pink and vague."

Freddie's hat was still in the ring. "But weren't there any marks on these beastly babies?" he asked.

"There must have been marks. Everybody has marks. You see it in passports—Any mark?"

Sir Herbert nodded gravely.

"I'm coming to that. It was that that made the thing a certainty. The Drotwisch child had been scolded on the arm before it left India. When its parents returned a year and a half later the scar had disappeared. Nurse Price explained that it had vanished gradually. Fourteen years later the boy who is called Syd Price still bore that scar."

"Then, hang it all," said Tony, "if you were both satisfied that he was—"

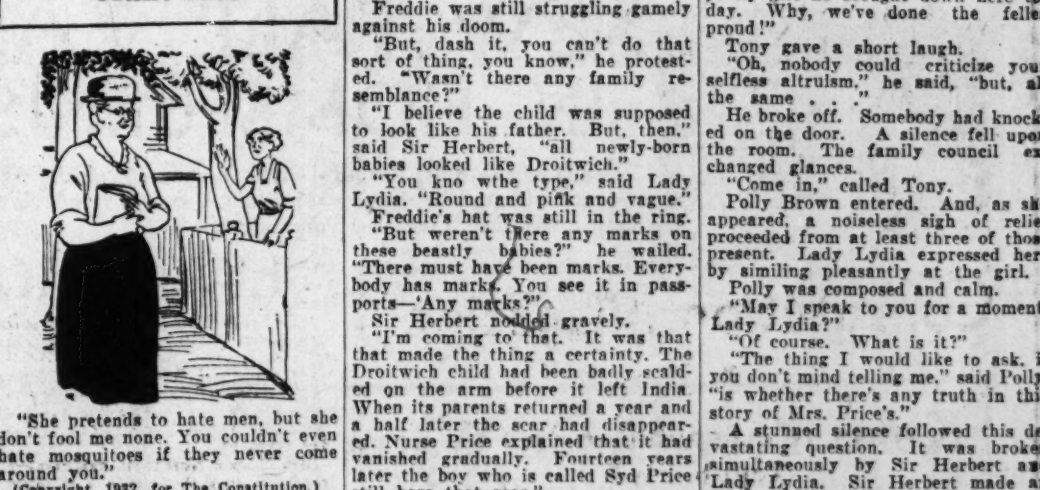

"Wait," said Lady Lydia. "He's coming to that."

"Lady Drotwisch," said Sir Herbert, "was in a very delicate state of health just then. If we had snatched the boy she thought her son away from her—the boy she idolized—and tried to substitute this dreadful little outsider, the shock would have killed her. All one night Drotwisch and I debated what to do. Then an idea occurred to me. Surely the mother instinct would assert itself. . . . Surely she would feel a bond. . . ."

"And she did."

"From the moment she set eyes on him," said Sir Herbert solemnly, "she

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Rev. Robert Fletcher, provincial worker of the Episcopal church for the South, will not be at St. Philip's cathedral tonight as he is attending a conference in New York.

Pupils of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression were presented in a dramatic-lecture recital Thursday night when Miss A. B. Norris read a dramatic scene and Mrs. V. C. Murphree read poems.

Mrs. J. G. Mellichamp, of Atlanta, was elected second vice president and Mrs. Warren D. White, also of Atlanta, historian, at the final session of the Service Star Legion, organization of women relatives of men who actively participated in the World War. Other Atlanta members elected to office were Mrs. W. F. Melton, Mrs. L. P. Rosser and Mrs. F. W. Whitliff.

J. T. Kinard was brought to Fulton tower Thursday night from Jackson, Butts county, for safekeeping. At the tower Friday it was stated that Kinard was under a death sentence but no details of the case were known.

Bonnie Harris and George Ruff, both boys at a local hotel, were given six months on the chain gang and fined $100 each in criminal court of Atlanta Friday when they pleaded guilty to selling home brew to federal prohibition agents.

Application for a charter as the "Big Whistle" club filed Friday in superior court by L. B. Davidson and H. T. Hagun. They listed their capital stock at $1,000. The application was filed by the law firm of Hendrix & Buchanan.

Peddlers' wagons operating in Atlanta may suffer a severe blow as a result of a ruling of W. K. Meadows, Georgia state assistant attorney-general, it was announced Friday by W. R. Echols, city inspector of weights and measures. Meadows ruled that wagon operated by peddlers, under the free license privileges granted by the state, must be operated by owners and not by others.

Fulton grand jury Friday returned a total of 16 true bills. Of this number, four were for alleged lottery operations, two for larceny after trust and the remainder for burglary or misdemeanor offenses.

C. A. Thomas was indicted by the Fulton grand jury Friday on a charge of larceny after trust, it being alleged that he took 50 boxes of candy on two different occasions, the property of the Consolidated Candy Company, and sold them, instead of turning the money back to the company, converted it to his own use.

Johnnie Romans was indicted Friday by the Fulton grand jury for assault with intent to murder J. C. Hackett, of Roswell, on October 4, 1931. The indictment alleges that the altercation occurred in old Milton county and that Romans attacked Hackett with his fists and pushed him into Mountain Park lake.

William M. Fullington was indicted Friday by the grand jury on a charge of larceny after trust, it being alleged that on July 12 he took $220 of money belonging to the Star Proctor Company and converted it to his own use.

R. A. Garner, of 749 Penn avenue, was indicted Friday by the grand jury for larceny after trust, it being alleged that he missed a quantity of food from the house.

Robert Mizell, president of the Taxpayers' League, Friday night addressed members of the Morningstar Civic League at the Morningstar school. Short talks were made by Alderman Alvin Richards and Councilman Frank Wilson. Miss Gertrude Pollard, new principal of Morningstar school, was introduced to the league. W. M. Keheley, president, presided.

MRS. HOOVER SEES NIGHT WATCHMAN SALVATION OF U. S. KILLS YOUNG CLERK IN SCOUT PRACTICES IN FLORIDA STORE

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., Oct. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Frederick Edey, of New York, was re-elected president and Wilbur C. Smith, of New York, vice president of the National Girl Scout convention at the concluding business session here today attended by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president.

Mrs. Hoover's entry at the opening of the morning session was the occasion for an enthusiastic ovation. She was greeted by the girls in uniform of the Scouts, without distinguishing insignia.

Before the business of the convention was resumed Mrs. Hoover presented a bound copy of the "American Girl," official organ of the Girl Scouts. The presentation was by Mrs. A. L. Call, representing Troop 1 of Groton, Mass.

Mrs. Hoover, in her annual interview today, said "the country in its business" was beginning, in the economic stress, to put into effect the helpful friendliness that its boys and girls had been practicing for years in scouting.

"Is the economic situation sending more girls into scouting than was in normal times?" was one question put to her.

"It is amazing that they are coming to Girl Scouting," was her answer. "They feel they are needed more—as in times of war."

CUBA'S "BETSY ROSS" STRICKEN BY BLINDNESS

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Oct. 7. (AP)—Seventy-four years ago, the bright eyes of Candelaria Acosta set the tiny stiches in the first Cuban flag, the banner that Carlos Manuel de Cespedes hoisted at Bayle in the first revolution to obtain Cuba's freedom from Spain.

Today Senorita Acosta was blind. An operation for removal of cataracts failed to save the sight of Cuba's "Betsy Ross."

DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT COSTS DECLARED LOW

ATLANTA, N. J., Oct. 7. (AP)—Enforcing the Volstead act costs .043 cents per capita, "less than the price of a glass of beer," says a report submitted to the Methodist conference here. The report termed propaganda for the return of liquor as "so much bunk."

DAVEY JONES FOILED, Man Floats to Safety

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 7. (UP)—Captain H. S. Banner, skipper of the liner President Van Buren and endurance floating champion of the United States, saved his own life today through his ability to stay on top of water without exertion. Captain Banner was bathing at Jubu, Bombay's Riviera, when the sea current dragged him far out from shore. He struggled for three hours to reach the beach but could make no progress, so he decided to float.

He floated for several hours awaiting a shorted boat and finally was rescued, in a semi-conscious state, by fishermen. He was able to sail with the President Van Buren this afternoon.

Negro Shot in Leg.

A warning to keep away went unheeded last evening by a Negro of Hammock place, showed up Friday night at the home of Henry Jones, negro, 97 Piedmont avenue, emphasizing his defiance of the order by shooting Jones in the right leg, according to a report to police. Jones told officers that his wife had bought several lottery tickets from Brown, and won twice, but he had not time to tell her of the win.
